Berry family welcomes New Year's baby

By BECKY BARNES, Editor

There weren't a lot of firsts associated with Kristi Perkins' pregnancy and delivery. It was to be the fourth child for Kristi and her husband Daniel.

However, Miranda Lee arrived as the first baby of 2012 at Harrison Memorial Hospital.

"We were real surprised," Daniel said of his fourth child and third daughter who was born at 8:10 a.m. on Jan. 2. "I thought there'd be three or four babies up here."

Delivered by Dr. Derek Clarke, Miranda Lee weighed in at 5 pounds, 9 ounces and is 17.75 inches long.

Daniel said he took his wife to the hospital around 4:30 a.m. on Jan. 2. Less than four hours later, Miranda made her presence known.

She has three siblings to ensure that she is well and soundly spoiled. They are: Alexis, 7, Katherine, 5, and Daniel Jr., 2.

As the first baby, Miranda receives an abundance of gifts from local businesses, including: a silver-plated child's cup from Whalen's Jewelers; a sports blanket from Purrsonally Yours; flowers and balloons from Flower Depot; a free massage from HMH Rehab and Wellness Center; basket of gifts for Mom and baby from the HMH Obstetrics Department; stuffed animal from the HMH Auxiliary; a Project Linus baby blanket; $50 gift certificated to Red Lobster; photo package from HMH; one-year subscription to the Cynthiana Democrat; $50 from Dr. Clarke; $50 from Drs. Cooper, Norfleet and Mulberry with Family Care Associates; an embroidered Onesie from Teaberry Gifts; $250 from Kentucky Bank's 529 College Savers Account; two packages of newborn diapers; and a photo package from Our 365.

Kristi and baby were expected to go to their Berry home on Thursday.

3 churches, 1 business burglarized

By BECKY BARNES, Editor

One suspect has been arrested and charged in connection with a Dec. 30 burglary at Cynthiana Baptist Church.

Other church burglaries around the same time period continue under investigation with a person of interest to be interviewed on Wednesday.

Sgt. Tim Wells of the Cynthiana Police Department arrested Benjamin Frizzell on Dec. 30 charging him with burglary and receiving stolen property.

Ptl. Harold Whitlock is investigating a break-in at the First United Methodist Church on Dec. 28 where about $700 in cash was taken from the church's annex and a small safe destroyed.

"It seemed like they knew exactly where it was at," Whitlock said. "The church has probably helped them out before so they knew where the safe was."

Whitlock said several pieces of evidence were collected inside the church and will be used in the case.

At the Methodist Church's Sunday School annex and preschool, a window was busted out in the back, which will cost about $75 to replace, damage to the safe was estimated at $350 and an air conditioning unit was destroyed with a $200 replacement estimate.

Entry to the Baptist Church's day care/education rooms was made through a window on the side closest to Poindexter Lumber Co. It appeared the only thing missing from the church, which is located at Pleasant and Church streets, was a laptop computer.

The Church of the Advent Episcopal was broken into around the same time period, but nothing has been determined to be missing.

"These are all connected," Whitlock said, noting that another burglary being investigated by Ptl. Jeff Thomas is likely related as well.

On Dec. 21, Bobby Shirley reported to Thomas that his property at the corner of Church Street and Oddville Avenue was broken into and quite a bit of damage was done.

Thomas said he suspects at least two men entered the property and took weed eaters, leaf blowers and hand tools. They got into one of Shirley's Volvo station wagons and drove into another parked vehicle leaving much destruction in their wake.

They drove through a garage door and drew lewd pictures on about 10 other vehicles parked inside a security fence.

In all, the damage at Shirley's is estimated to be in excess of $5,000.

Thomas said he anticipates that additional charges will be made in the case right away.

Snowy weather impacts driving with 10 wrecks over holiday weekend

By BEN HYATT, News Writer

After several holiday car accidents, law enforcement is encouraging all drivers to drive with precautions.

According to the Harrison County Sheriff's Department, over 10 wrecks in the city and county have taken place during the holiday season.

Deputy Steve McCauley said the snow increased the number of accidents dramatically.

"Once the snow started falling it was like everyone decided to start driving faster and more reckless," said McCauley. "We are encouraging everyone to allow some extra time to get to their destination without haste."

So far, the sheriff's department has worked two wrecks this new year that resulted in injuries.

The first of the two occurred on Jan. 2, around 11:20 a.m., on KY 1284.

According to the sheriff's report, Mary Keoing was operating a 1998 Jeep Grand Cherokee on KY 1284 heading west.

Keoing was "rounding" a curve on KY 1284 when she suddenly lost control of her vehicle, resulting in her skidding off the right side of the road and striking an embankment before overturning.

The report states that the vehicle was severely damaged and Keoing complained of neck pains sustained from the wreck.

Keoing was transported by Brown's Ambulance Service to Harrison Memorial with non life-threatening injuries.

The second of the two wrecks occurred on KY 62 east around 2:33 p.m., later the same day.

According to Deputy Robert Peak, Barbara Biddle was traveling west on US 62 when she lost control of her vehicle in a curve, causing her to slide into the eastbound lane.

"While in the eastbound lane, Biddle was struck in the passenger side by Michael Adamson," said Peak. "Luckily, he hit her in the passenger side and not the driver's side or we would have been looking at a fatality accident."

The wreck occurred only moments before a non-related accident involving Audrey Gifford.

Gifford was also traveling east when she lost control of her vehicle in the same curve before sliding off the road and striking a utility pole.

According to Peak, Gifford was present at

Drowning victim will be buried Friday

By BECKY BARNES, Editor

Visitation and funeral will be held Friday for a young man who drowned in the Licking River last Friday after falling into the rapidly churning water.

Martin Antonio Martinez-Ortega and his brother, Ernesto, were dropped off at their Rocky Ford Road residence near Berry about 2:30 p.m. last Friday by their employer Jerry Dennis.

According to Harrison County Sheriff's Deputy Robert Peak, Martin was walking along the bank of the river and slipped in.

Ernesto ran along the river bank as far as he could and told authorities that Martin was trying to swim and had his head above water when he last saw him.

"He hadn't been drinking and there's no reason to believe there was foul play," Peak said, noting that he saw where Martin went into the water and saw no signs of a struggle.

Harrison County's Search and Rescue launched boats and continued their search until well after dark Friday before calling off the search due to darkness.

The search resumed Saturday morning and Martin's body was recovered around 11 a.m. about 200 yards from where he went in, said Dennis.

Visitation for Martinez will be at Woodhead Funeral Home in Berry from 12-1 p.m. with the funeral immediately following. He will be buried in Pythian Grove Cemetery.

Dennis said donations for burial expenses may be left in envelopes at the funeral home.

Much of Martinez's family is in the area. Ernest and their mother also work for the Dennises. Martin had worked for them for 11 years, since he was 15 years old.

Binomial System names plant species

Most of us are not fluent in Latin so distinguishing between an Aesculus parviflora and an Aesculus pavia may take some extra effort. Throw hybrids and cultivars into the mix and our plant choices may increase with our confusion.

Categorizing plants is both scientifically and commercially important.

Swedish naturalist Carl Von Linne (who latinized his own name and is more commonly recognized as Carl Linnaeus) developed a system of botanical nomenclature 250 years ago in order to keep the many plant species straight. This was indeed necessary because there are over 25,000 species of flowering plants known today.

Linnaeus' binomial, or two-named, system was based in the Latin language because when he developed it in 1753 Latin was the language of academia. His binomial naming system classified a plant's species, which consists of the generic (or genus) name and the specific epithet. So, Aesculus is the generic name, parviflora is the specific epithet that describes it qualities and....voila, the two combined represent the scientific name for bottlebrush buckeye.

Botanists take note of what makes a plant biologically the same or different and they use the binomial system to name plants in related categories. And, most gardeners recognize plants today by their naturally occurring species name; but when hybrids and cultivars enter the picture it gets a little more crowded.

Hybrids and cultivars are typically introduced after some sort of human intervention has taken place. A hybrid is a plant that results from a cross between two related species and is commonly marked by x, suggesting the cross. (The popular viburnum x burkwoodii is a cross between v. carlesii and v. utile.) Many crosses occur naturally, but often it is the gardener who recognizes qualities in related species that would, if crossed, create a better plant. Plus, those naturally occurring crosses often don't maintain the new traits and revert back to the species. It is cultivation by humans that helps in maintaining consistency.

Jeneen Wiche

Cultivars (literally a cultivated-variety) can be hybridized or selected from nature. A cultivar name is noted by the use of single quotes, like Aesculus parviflora 'Rogers', so named because the seeds were collected from the garden of a man named Dr. Rogers and noted because it grows larger than the straight species. This plant was selected for its robust habit and then cultivated by human hands to keep this unique, but naturally occurring specimen viable. The person who noticed and selected the plant is what proves most fascinating to me whether you understand the nomenclature or not.

Plant selection may be the most fascinating technique for identifying exceptional plant material. Not everyone can do this because much of it has to do with luck and having a keen eye. It comes from an individual's ability to notice something special about a plant that makes it different from other known cultivars. This is big business today, too, so the more informed we are the better off our selections and gardens grow! Stay informed for the new year and you will be met with more success than usual.

CSP ranking period cut-off is Jan. 13

Eligibility requirements checklist available for Conservation Stewardship Program at NRCS office, Website

USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) announces that the ranking period cut-off date for the Conservation Stewardship Program (CSP) is Jan. 13, 2012. Producers interested in CSP should submit applications to their local NRCS office by the deadline so that their applications can be considered during the first ranking period of 2012.

The CSP is a voluntary program that encourages agricultural and forestry producers to address resource concerns by: undertaking additional conservation activities; and improving and maintaining existing conservation systems.

"CSP is a popular conservation program, and we expect to receive many applications," NRCS State Conservationist Karen Woodrich said. "I encourage all farmers who are interested in applying to contact their local NRCS office as soon as possible so they can meet the deadline."

CSP is offered in all 50 states, and the Pacific and Caribbean areas through continuous sign-ups. The program provides many conservation benefits including improvement of water and soil quality, wildlife habitat enhancements and adoption of conservation activities that address the effects of climate change. Eligible lands include cropland, pastureland, rangeland, nonindustrial private forest land and agricultural land under the jurisdiction of an Indian tribe.

A CSP self-screening checklist is available to help potential applicants determine if CSP is suitable for their operation. The checklist highlights basic information about CSP eligibility requirements, contract obligations and potential payments. It is available from the NRCS office at 103 Rodgers Park Dr., 234-5876 and on the CSP Web page.

As part of the CSP application process, applicants will work with NRCS field personnel to complete the resource inventory using a Conservation Measurement Tool (CMT). The CMT determines the conservation performance for existing and new conservation activities. The applicant's conservation performance will be used to determine eligibility, ranking and payments.

Ephesians 1: 13-23

The blessings of redemption and the power of the resurrection which all Christians have is from Jesus Christ. He is the only man who was raised from the dead to have eternal life. "In him you also, after listening to the message of truth, the gospel of your salvation - having also believed, you were sealed in him with the Holy Spirit of promise, and is given us a pledge of our inheritance, with a view to the redemption of God's own possession, to the praise of his glory. For this reason I too, having heard of the faith in the Lord Jesus which exists among you, and your love for all the saints, do not cease giving thanks for you, while making mention of you in my prayers; that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the father of glory, may give to you a spirit of wisdom and of revelation in the knowledge of him. I pray that the eyes of your heart may be enlightened so that ye may know what is the hope of his calling, what are the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints, and what is the surpassing greatness of his power toward us who believe. These are in accordance with the working of the strength of his might which he brought about in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and seated him at the right hand in the heavenly places, far above all rule and authority and power and dominion, and every name that is named, and not only in this age, but also in the one to come. And he put all things in subjection under his feet, and gave him as head over all things to the church, which is his body, the fulness of him who fills all in all. This tells us the revelation that Christ holds to the church. The revelation of the church to Christ, the time when the relationship came into being."

Jesus Christ is the head of the church. Christ is the savior of the church. And Christ is head of all things except God. In the new heaven and the new earth Christ and God will be with all people. Matt. 5: 8 "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God." Rev. 22: 3 - 4 "And there shall no longer be any curse; and the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it, and his bondservants shall serve him; and they shall see his face and his name shall be on their foreheads." The new heaven and new earth will be the most wonderful place of God's creation. This is what God has for his people. Won't you become a Christian?

Stolen vehicle found torched on Mouth of Cedar

By BEN HYATT, News Writer

A car fire near Wagner Chapel Road lead authorities to believe they found a vehicle that was reported stolen.

According to Harrison County Sheriff's Deputy Steve McCauley, a call was made on Jan. 2, to report a vehicle on fire located on Mouth of Cedar Road, close to Wagner Chapel Road.

"The car was completely destroyed in the fire," said McCauley. "The aluminum wheels were melted so bad that they are just piles of metal now."

McCauley said the vehicle was in such bad condition after the fire that identification tags are unidentifiable.

However, it is believed that the torched vehicle may fit the description of a vehicle which was reported stolen on Saturday, Dec. 31.

"Someone reported to Cynthiana Police Department that a vehicle was stolen on Saturday," said McCauley. "The vehicle description was a Mitsubishi Galant and that is what we believe the torched vehicle is."

According to Chief Ray Johnson, a vehicle was reported stolen from 105 Third St. and was last seen around 10 p.m.

"We are still waiting for the sheriff's department to verify if the vehicle is in fact the same one that was reported stolen," said Johnson. "At this time, it is too early to say if it is the same one that we are looking for."

Johnson said the vehicle had no insurance and is believed to have been at the Third Street location being repaired.

According to Johnson, the stolen Galant is believed to be owned by Abigail Morris, who is responsible for reporting the vehicle stolen.

Wrecks

From WRECKS, front page the time of the wreck and witnessed it unfold.

Biddle was transported by a private vehicle to HMH to be checked and treated for head injuries. She was later released.

According to Peak, another accident occurred at the same US 62 location later that day when a driver slammed into the same utility pole, causing it to break, however, no injuries were reported in the accident.

"We understand that people get in a rush when they are going somewhere, but it simply is not worth the risk," said McCauley. "What good is getting somewhere on time if you have to put yourself and others in danger to do so."

According to weather experts, there appears to be a break in the weather from the traditional snow that January usually shows, however, the month has just begun with February to follow.

KENTUCKY COMMUNITY AND TECHNICAL COLLEGE SYSTEM

SNOWY ROADS SHOULD INDICATE THAT DRIVERS NEED TO SLOW DOWN

With winter finally here, and with that I mean snow, vehicle accidents will surely be on the rise.

According to local law enforcement, as of Tuesday, over 10 reported wrecks have occurred in Cynthiana and Harrison County this month.

Aside from contributing factors related to the beginning of the year such as rushing to company New Year's Eve parties, one factor seems to have spiked the sudden number of wrecks... snow.

In a perfect world, there would be no tornadoes that demolish a town or hurricanes that cause flash flooding that nearly wipe-out whole communities; and when it snows, the gentle white, frosty flakes would fall ONLY in yards, giving the appearance of a white wonderland.

That being said, this world is far from perfect and snow-covered roads are just something that all Kentucky drivers must learn to cope with during the wintery season.

Ben Hyatt
News Writer

When I say, "learn to cope," I mean it in a way that all drivers that ever pull onto a road covered in snow should know by now that driving conditions should change once inclement weather sets in.

I have never understood how someone can drive down an ice covered road like it was the first day of spring or pass someone like they were competing in the Daytona 500.

I love to drive fast. I have two citations to prove it, however, I was taught and learned before entering a vehicle by myself for the first time that you are not only responsible for your own safety but the safety of others around you.

According to a safe driving study, the top three causes of wrecks during inclement weather are caused by not paying attention, following too closely or tailgating and driving too fast for weather conditions.

The first one, not paying attention, goes without saying. Snow does not have to be up to your knees before this tip comes into play.

Regardless of what the weather conditions are an alert driver is much safer than one that is in La La Land with their favorite movie star.

When roads are covered with snow, drivers should be more cautious than ever to ensure their safety and other drivers safety.

Second, we have the tailgaters and those who feel it is safe to have only two feet between the car in front of them.

A helpful hint to those who drive close enough to count the number of hairs of the driver in front of them, there is something called reaction time.

During normal driving conditions it is suggested that each car should drive three seconds of distance behind the vehicle in front of them and when snow is on the roads the space should be doubled.

That being said, I think it is safe to assume that putting a little extra space in between cars on snow-covered roads only increases the likelihood of fewer rear-end accidents.

Finally, there is the issue of driving too fast for road conditions.

Seriously, does anyone have somewhere to be that is so important that they feel the need to drive like it is the final lap of a car race?

There simply is no need for it and I am calling out anyone that does it... You're selfish when you drive and put others in danger.

That all being said, I hope that the winter months continue to be good to us all and not bring record breaking amounts of snow and ice.

Hopefully, the next time it snows, drivers will be a little more cautious when entering their vehicle and take into consideration the lives of everyone on the road.

Living within one's means

To the editor:

When did the concept of financial responsibility become a radical idea? the major point of the 'Tea Party', which I support, is that elected officials should prioritize expenditures and balance our budget, preferably without increasing taxes. Our federal government's practices may be despairingly beyond hope!

Radical is one of the more polite terms used to describe 'Tea Party' supporters. Living within one's means must be a revolutionary belief?

Beckett Lane family loses everything in Monday fire

By BEN HYATT, NEWS WRITER

A Monday afternoon fire left a family without a home for the new year.

A call was made to dispatch around 12:30 p.m., on Monday, Jan. 2, for a house fire located at 58 Beckett Lane, near Eureka Road in northern Harrison County.

According to Harrison County Fire Department Assistant Chief Wagner Perrin, the owners of the mobile home, Mike and Shelley Varax, were at work at the time of the fire.

"When we arrived at the scene the house was already engulfed in flames," said

Perrin. "Due to the heavy wind gusts, there was little that we could do to save the home."

Perrin said the home was completely destroyed by the flames, however, the fire department was able to save a horse barn that was located near the home.

"We worked for four solid hours on the home and barn," said Perrin. "No one ended up being hurt and that is most important, but sadly all the family has now is the clothes on their backs."

According to Perrin, the cause of the fire has not been completely determined, however, a wood stove is believed to be the source.

At press time no relief fund had been established to help the family with its losses.

KYTC District 6 is prepped for snow

Here we "snow" again! Indian Summers are gone and December weather has arrived in Kentucky. The drop in temperature, coupled with precipitation, equals the potential for snow and ice. That's when the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet District 6 crews take their jobs to another level to ensure safe driving conditions.

"In October, our maintenance crews completed training to prepare for the upcoming winter season, which included truck and equipment inspections. Highway safety is the top priority of the Transportation Cabinet, and in District 6 we intend to keep our roads as safe as possible for drivers in winter weather," said Chief District Engineer Rob Hans.

Maintenance crews in KYTC District 6 have responsibility for clearing 2,000 miles of state-maintained highways in the counties of Boone, Bracken, Campbell, Carroll, Gallatin, Grant, Harrison, Kenton, Owen, Pendleton and Robertson. That equates to more than 4,500 "lane miles" – all driving lanes from rural state roads to interstate highways. District 6 state maintenance crews are prepared to work to keep roads in the best possible condition during winter weather.

The Robertson County state maintenance crew is responsible for 165 lane miles of roadway. Crews have stockpiled 300 tons of salt and 5,800 gallons of salt brine for de-icing and have three trucks available for snow and ice removal.

To view the priority route map for Robertson County go to <http://transportation.ky.gov/Maintenance/Pages/Snow-and-Ice-Priority-Maps.aspx>

Every snow storm is different and presents different challenges such as temperature, pavement temperature, timing of snowfall and ice. Last year District 6 crews used over 63,000 tons of salt, approximately 138,000 gallons of salt brine and liquid chloride for snow and ice. In all, District 6 spent $7.7 million on equipment, materials and labor.

KYTC strives to provide the most descriptive and up-to-date information for motorists so they will know what to expect prior to a trip. Road condition reports for major routes in Kentucky are available by calling 511 or by visiting the 511 travel and traffic information web site at <http://511.ky.gov>.

Drivers are also reminded that bridges and overpasses are typically the most treacherous under wintry conditions. Motorists should always use extra caution when traveling during inclement weather and do their part. Drivers are encouraged to take it slow in the snow, maintain control, don't follow other vehicles too closely and most importantly, buckle up.

Additional safety tips for travelers during the snow and ice season:

Make sure your vehicle is sufficiently winterized – check the battery, antifreeze level, heater, defroster, wipers, and windshield washers.

Dress warmly enough for the weather. Dress in layers of loose-fitting, lightweight clothing, in anticipation of unexpected winter weather emergencies.

Keep the fuel tank at least two-thirds full to prevent fuel line freezing and to prepare for possibly lengthy delays on the roadway.

Make sure a friend or relative is aware of your travel route. Carry a cell phone.

Make sure your vehicle has an emergency care kit. The kit should include jumper cables, flares or reflectors, windshield washer fluid, an ice scraper, blankets, non-perishable food, a first aid kit, and traction material.

Give a wide berth to snow removal equipment.

Check the forecast and call 511 before you leave. If conditions are dangerous, avoid travel, unless it's absolutely necessary.

<http://transportation.ky.gov/Highway-Safety/Documents/SafeTips.pdf> provides additional safe winter driving tips.

HMH lab department earns CAP accreditation

Harrison Memorial Hospital Laboratory, Cynthiana, has been awarded accreditation by the Accreditation Committee of the College of American Pathologists (CAP), based on the results of a recent onsite inspection.

The laboratory's medical director, Patrick C. Crowe, M.D., was advised of this national recognition and congratulated for the excellence of the services being provided. Harrison Memorial Hospital's Laboratory Department is one of more than 7,000 CAP-accredited laboratories worldwide.

The CAP Laboratory Accreditation Program, begun in the early 1960s, is recognized by the federal government as being equal or more stringent than the government's own inspection program.

During the CAP accreditation process, inspectors examine the laboratory's records and quality control of procedures for the preceding two years. CAP inspection also examines laboratory staff qualifications, as well as the laboratory's equipment, facilities, safety program and record in addition to the overall management of the laboratory. The inspection program is designed to ensure the highest standard of care for all laboratory patients.

The outpatient laboratory is located on the first floor on the left after exiting the hospital's main lobby. Private areas are provided for patients to have blood drawn. Operating hours are: Monday - Friday from 7 a.m. - 6:30 p.m. and Saturday from 7 a.m. - 1 p.m.

The lab is staffed 24 hours, seven days a week. Special arrangements can be made with advance notice.

Most lab testing is completed and returned to the patient's physician office in 24 hours or less. All screenings require a physician order to be completed. The lab staff is made up of phlebotomists, medical laboratory technicians (MLT) and medical technologists (MT).

Tests and screenings available are: CBC, or comprehensive blood count; CMP, or comprehensive metabolic panel; BMP, or basic metabolic panel; PT, or prothrombin time; this is commonly used for patients using blood thinners to ensure blood is thin enough; Extensive thyroid testing; Cancer markers, or indicators of progression or remission of disease like prostate and colon cancers; Lipid panel, cholesterol testing for HDL and LDL levels; Urinalysis; DNA collection and paternity testing collections

HMH is affiliated with Pathology and Cytology Laboratories in Lexington.

HIP assists private landowners with wildlife management

About 95 percent of the land in Kentucky is privately owned. To successfully manage our wildlife resources, the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources works cooperatively with Kentucky's private landowners.

One of the essential ingredients in conserving Kentucky's wildlife resources is habitat improvement. Our Habitat Improvement Program offers an opportunity for interested landowners or managers, hunters, and groups to work with wildlife professionals toward a common goal of improving wildlife habitat--their cover, food, water, and space--across the state.

Wildlife biologists are available to work with interested individuals or groups on properties of 25 acres or more that they own or have management rights on. This program helps create suitable habitats that benefit local wildlife populations and demonstrate to others the value of such improvements. The technical assistance is designed to help participants to meet their goals. There is no obligation for participation in this program.

The Habitat Improvement Program can provide a link to available funds and other assistance offered by state, federal, and private agencies. There are many opportunities to receive technical assistance and even financial assistance through a variety of programs for incorporating wildlife habitat improvement projects into ongoing farming operations and other land management systems.

Funding for habitat improvement projects is dependent upon how the projects will benefit wildlife. Availability of funds is also subject to annual changes in federal and state appropriations. Eligible projects must be approved before they are begun. Some commonly recommended practices include fescue eradication, beneficial grass establishment, shallow-wetland creation, and tree or shrub planting.

Whether your recreational enjoyment comes from hunting, photographing, or simply observing wildlife, the Habitat Improvement Program can help make a difference in wildlife use of your property. Take advantage of this program to increase your enjoyment, knowing that you are helping conserve wildlife populations and their habitats.

Let a wildlife biologist help you put wild know-how to work on your land. There is no charge or obligation for participating in this program. You will not be required to allow hunting or other public uses of your land if you participate in this or other technical guidance programs.

Assistance is also available through:

•Business Conservation Partnership - for any businesses, municipalities, churches, or other groups interested in improving habitat, reducing maintenance, and improving human relations.

•Forest Stewardship Program - for landowners with 10 or more acres who wish to work with both a wildlife biologist and a professional forester.

•Backyard Wildlife Program - do-it-yourself help kit for properties smaller than five acres, for schools and outdoor classroom design, or for anyone interested in backyard wildlife enhancement. A nominal fee is charged for the kit.

To find out more about the KY Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' Habitat Improvement Program or other programs, contact the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources at 1-800-858-1549.

The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR) is funded through the sale of hunting and fishing licenses and boat registration fees. It receives no general fund tax dollars.

Church

Built for great things

Last month my husband and I went to Charlotte, N.C., one of our favorite cities.

We stayed uptown — which I would call downtown, but what do I know? — right in the middle of all the tall buildings and skyscrapers.

I have a confession to make. I love buildings. I mean, I love, I-o-v-e buildings, like chocoholics love chocolate and pie-aholics love pie. Well, maybe not that much, but I love architecture and design, Gothic arches and flying buttresses.

One night during our trip we were out walking uptown and we passed the Hearst Tower building on N. Tryon Street, which happens to be my favorite of favorites of the Charlotte skyline.

As I tried the glass front door and found it unlocked, I told my husband, "I'm going in." He said he'd be waiting with bail money to get me out of jail if I got arrested for breaking and entering.

I really love buildings.

When I walked inside the art deco style structure, tears came to my eyes. Seriously. It was that incredible, and other than walking into my church — modern French Gothic awesomeness — I'd never experienced such a reaction.

Of course, it could've been all the caffeine I'd consumed earlier, mixed with the excitement of being on vacation and up past my bedtime.

Right inside the door there was a man in a suit (who said the building was open because there were about a half-dozen restaurants and bars inside and, therefore, I wasn't breaking and entering) who told me that the building was built in 2002 and that the bronze stairway and balcony railings had been rescued from Au Bon Marche, a 1920's Paris department store.

I also learned that the 47-story skyscraper has a "reversed floorplate design," which means it's wider at the top than at the bottom, giving it an unusual appearance, adding to its coolness factor, in my opinion.

The man in the suit let me go upstairs, and I walked around, touching the marble and studied the lines and angles of metal and glass and mirrors. I had a camera with me, but I knew I couldn't capture what I was feeling. I've since seen professionally taken photos of this building and they don't do it justice.

Reading over these words, I realize how silly they sound, but this building stirred something in me. It thrilled me to be able to explore the handiwork of an architectural artist. I really, really love buildings.

When my church was building our sanctuary back in 2003, the day the huge pre-fabricated concrete walls went up a bunch of us came out to watch. As a huge crane hoisted the 92-foot wall in place we all ate hot dogs and cheered.

Over the next few months, I passed the church every day on my way to work, sometimes stopping and walking through the construction site.

One week some of the members got to take markers and write messages and favorite Bible verses on the floor before the carpet was installed. I wrote, "God is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think" (Ephesians 3:20).

The sanctuary was completed just before Christmas 2003. I still never get tired of counting the arches and marveling at how the red steel beams create a cross in the window.

Recently, my pastor commented that the reason we built such a beautiful building is because Jesus is beautiful. The building reflects his beauty.

My pastor also often says that we did not build the building for ourselves, but for the community, for those who will come some time in the future.

Each week as I walk into this magnificently simple yet powerfully artistic place of worship, I'm reminded that it's God who is the master architect, who's building his church worldwide, not with 92-foot slabs of concrete, but with people.

The apostle Peter called the followers of Jesus "living stones" used to build a spiritual structure.

So, not only do I get to explore my love of buildings whenever I go someplace, but as a Christian I actually get to be a building! And not just a building, but part of a city, a city on a hill, as Jesus said. The city of God, for all to see.

Truly, what more can a building geek like me ask for?

Acting Cynthiana postmaster Robert S. Reed voices concern about unauthorized vehicles parking in the driveway or in the back lot of the post office. It is illegal to park on government property at it makes it impossible for the trucks to get to the platform for loading and unloading mail. Vehicles will be towed to city hall at the owners expense. They will be paying the tow charge and an assessed fine.

A Fallout Shelter Program (family and group type) will soon be available for purchase in Harrison County. A meeting was held to discuss the possibility of putting shelter on the local market. A building company will sell and install the shelters in Harrison and Bourbon counties. The group type would accommodate 200 persons at an estimated cost of slightly less than $200 each. It normally includes ventilation, lighting, toilet facilities and supplies, under approximately three feet of earth.

Thorobreds second in HCIWT with solid team performance

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

Harrison County's wrestling team hosted its annual Harrison County Invitational Tournament on Wednesday, Dec. 28. and came away with the second place team trophy.

With what Coach Luke Tucker called "an indication of hard work paying off," the Thorobreds defeated Western Hills, Dunbar, Ashland and Bullitt East during the grueling five dual match afternoon.

The tournament-winning Bryan Station Defenders were the only team to defeat Harrison County by winning some extremely close matches in the finals.

Bryan Station is on the upswing in wrestling due in large part to the work of new assistant Kevin Case, who is a former Harrison County state champion wrestler.

In one of the more exciting dual matches, the Thorobreds came back from losing the first three matches to Western Hills to defeat the wrestling Wolverines.

The Thorobreds' good performance came on the day that former coach Russ Riegel was honored for his more than 50 years of devotion to high school wrestling.

Riegel, who was exceptionally dedicated to the HCIWT, was presented with a jersey and a framed HC singlet.

Senior Eric Kiskaden and seventh grader Nathan Lopez were both undefeated for the day for Harrison County winning all five of their matches.

"We are seeing the hard work pay off now," repeated Coach Tucker. "It is now time to begin preparation in earnest for the post season."

The next wrestling action for the Thorobreds is Saturday at Simon Kenton in the Simon Kenton Duals.

Breds cage Panthers 77-59 in Augusta Tuesday night

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

Senior Caleb Ford scored his 1,000th point early in the second period Tuesday night on the way to a game high 29 points, and sophomore Dillon Pulliam hit for 21 as the Harrison County Thorobreds ran over the Augusta Panthers 77-59 in Augusta.

The Breds never trailed as junior guard Jordan Stubbs shook his season-long shooting slump in the first period hitting for eight of his 11 points for the game early.

The Breds jumped out to a 26-12 first quarter lead with a balanced attack with Stubbs' eight points, Ford's seven and Pulliam's six points leading the way.

In the first period alone Harrison

County was 11 for 17 from the field, three of four from the three-point line to run out to a big lead.

The Thorobreds were 18 of 29 in the first half as they added four more points to the first quarter lead to go into the half with a 43-25 advantage.

The third quarter saw Augusta make a run to cut the lead to 10 at 44-34, but the Breds stretched it back out to 58-42 by quarter's end.

Coach Mike Reitz played everyone freely in the second half trying several different combinations while still maintaining a safe margin over the three-point shooting Panthers.

For the game, Augusta fired up 30 three pointers connecting on only six as they fell in love with the long bomb.

One of the Panthers' leading scorers before Tuesday, Dalton Appleman, was one of nine from the three-point line for a game total of only three points.

Harrison County made seven of 11 three-point attempts while hitting on a game total of 29 of 52 from the field for 55.8 percent.

"I was really glad to see Jordan Stubbs get off to a good start tonight," said Reitz following the game. "Stubby needed this and so did the team as we need to have some other scorers step forward."

One game total that bothered Reitz particularly was turnovers.

MIKE'S MINUTE

The second day of the new year and I'm disturbed

It has happened again. The bad thing is that more than one thing that shouldn't happen at all has happened again.

The first repeat offense is the annual egg laid by the Big Ten in the bowl games. By early evening Monday, only Michigan State had won in five games in which the conference teams participated during the day with only Wisconsin still to finish in the Rose Bowl as I write this.

Before today, Iowa and Northwestern lost while Illinois and Purdue won and Michigan will play later in the week.

So of the 10 Big Ten teams who were in bowls, the best the conference can do is five of 10.

Only two of the conference schools did not get invited to bowls, just like the SEC. Minnesota and my Indiana Hoosiers stayed home for the winter like Ole Miss and Kentucky did in the SEC.

It is not so much that the Big Ten teams lost, but it is how they lose that continues to be embarrassing.

Northwestern, Iowa, Nebraska and Penn State were actually run off of the field losing by more than two touchdowns. Ohio State lost to 6-6 (at game time) Florida to lose its seventh game of the season, which is unheard of for the Buckeyes.

Of course, now Ohio State must endure the many also fans saying that they cheated and who actually knows if they earned all of the wins that they have garnered over the years.

At least, to my knowledge, none of the Big Ten players were arrested while they visited the city where the bowl game was played.

This is also the time of the year when the professional teams begin to fire coaching staffs and in this year, general managers, for what is perceived to be failures to win enough games.

Mike Aldridge
Sports Writer

Professional coaching is, in many cases, a combination of scouting the colleges, practice coaching, game coaching and baby sitting.

Again this year, news reports from some of the losing teams are going over how quarterbacks and receivers are arguing and some owners were seen patrolling the sidelines pointing out the obvious to the coaching staff.

Professional coaches do not have the comfort of a high school or college coach who have a buffer of an athletic director between an over zealous or misinformed president or principal who may fire a coach without just cause.

Believe it or not, there are coaches who have to endure criticism from administrators who do not even go to the games, so it is even more critical that they have the athletic director to go through for an opinion from a knowledgeable source.

Coaches are hired to be fired they say, but they deserve a fair evaluation to be made by someone, or more than one person, who is involved in the day-to-day events surrounding the program and not someone who knows little or nothing about the game.

The knowing little about the game is also a problem with owners of professional franchises, but it is their money and also entirely up to them.

In colleges and high schools, in most cases, it is a taxpayer-owned public school that a one-person judge and jury should not be the case.

Fillies defeat East Jessamine, lose heartbreaker to Leslie County

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

The Harrison County Fillies finished 2011 playing in the Lady Wolverine Christmas Tournament at Western Hills High School on Wednesday and Thursday last week.

On Wednesday, the Fillies overcame a sluggish first half to defeat the Lady Jaguars of East Jessamine by a 59-46 score.

This victory placed the Fillies in the fifth/sixth place game against the Lady Eagles of Leslie County on Thursday. The Fillies lost this game by a narrow 45-43 margin in a most difficult way, yet in a promising fashion as well.

Wednesday's game was certainly one with the most contrasting halves of basketball that can be played by one team.

The Fillies opened with four straight points and appeared to be on their way to an easy win when cold shooting by the Fillies along with the Lady Jaguars made the game a nip and tuck, back and forth affair with neither team able to pull away.

The game was tied at the end of the first period with 10 points each.

The Fillies were able to take a one-point lead into the halftime intermission with both coaches unhappy with their teams' performances.

The second half was a different story for Harrison County as they came out shooting, making 50 percent from the field scoring 19 points in the third period to pull away from East Jessamine with a seven-point lead going into the fourth period.

"Kelsey Cummins came alive in the second half," observed Coach Kim Furnish. "We need her to score more consistently like she did today."

With Cummins penetrating, the court opened up for freshman Chelsea Ingram to hit from the outside and sophomore Jordan Doram to dominate the inside in the final half.

The Fillies added six more points to the lead in the fourth quarter to win by the 59-46 margin.

Doram led the Fillies offensively with 23 points and nine rebounds.

She had a lot of help on this day as Ingram scored 12 with five rebounds; Cummins added 10 with five boards; eighth grader Madison Philpott scored six with four boards; and senior Emily Little scored four points, and grabbed six big rebounds.

The Fillies improved to 4-8 with the win while East Jessamine fell to 3-7.

"We had way too many turnovers, especially from our point guard," he lamented. "We have got to cut down on the unforced errors and take care of the ball."

The Breds committed 22 turnovers while the Panthers had 20. Harrison County out rebounded Augusta by a 41 to 35 margin with junior Tyler Wagner grabbing a team high seven.

Senior Wyatt Thorpe led Augusta with 17 points for the night along with a game-high eight rebounds. The loss left Augusta at 6-5 for the season while Harrison County improves to 8-6.

The Thorobreds next action is Friday night at Bracken County followed by a Saturday afternoon game at Lexington Catholic against Lincoln County.

The Harrison County junior varsity was victorious at Augusta with a 56-28 win.

Middle School Colts win games with Clark Middle Monday

The Harrison County Middle School Colts hosted the Clark Middle Eagles Monday on the Hilltop and both the seventh and eighth grade teams improved their records. The seventh grade rolled to an 11-point halftime lead only to see the visitors cut the lead to four as the game wound down to the end. The Colts were able to connect on just enough free throws to hold off the Eagles and come away with a 34-25 victory.

The win brought the seventh grade team to a 4-2 conference record and a 6-7 overall mark. Luke Slucher led the Colts in scoring with 12 while Malcolm Walker tossed in seven for the Colts.

The eighth grade game was a back-and-forth affair throughout until the last two minutes when the Colts pulled away for a 50-40 win.

Leon Commodore's three-point play sparked the Colts as they led by only 40-38 when he scored and was fouled. The Colts had three players in double figures in a balanced scoring effort.

Tyler White led the way with 12 followed by Brock Jenkins with 11 and Zach Pulliam with 10. Davonte Kenney added eight points and did a yeoman's job on the boards in the second half.

The victory makes the eighth grade Colts 11-2 for the season with an undefeated 6-0 mark in the conference.

Next up for the Colts is a visit from Paris Middle on Wednesday followed by a trip to McNabb Middle in Mt. Sterling on Thursday.

Middle school wrestlers fourth in home duals

The Harrison County Middle School wrestling team had three undefeated wrestlers and finished fourth of the 12 teams in the Harrison County Middle School Duals last Thursday.

Nathan Lopez, Taylor Bourassa and Colin Coy each won all five of their matches to spearhead the Colts. Chase Highlander finished second and Brent Hudgins third as they both had outstanding performances as well.

Also finishing strong for the Colts were Tyler Hudgins, Ethan French and Tanner Wells with fifth place finishes and Michael Mattox with a sixth place.

"We continue to get stronger as the districts approach," noted Coach Barry Zumwalt. "I can see us competing for the championship as we continue to improve."

Elkhorn Middle won the meet followed by Johnson County, McNabb Middle and the Harrison County squad.

This weekend, the Colts will venture to Mt. Sterling for the Montgomery County Middle School Classic.

No gifts at Gateway Holiday Tournament for Breds, lose 2 of 3

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

The Harrison County Thorobreds found the competition quick and tenacious at the Gateway Holiday Tournament in Mt. Sterling last week losing to Marshall County and Male while defeating Owen County.

Wednesday afternoon the Breds faced the then 9-0 Marshals of Marshall County and lost by a 62-46 score in a game where they were never really a threat.

The Marshall County defense took senior Caleb Ford out of his game with a face guarding defense that frustrated Ford and left the Breds looking for scoring.

"Someone else needs to step up to take some pressure off Ford," said Coach Mike Reitz. "Right now we are easy to defend with only two people scoring."

Marshall County sprinted out to an 18-6 first-quarter advantage and the Breds could only get as close as 14 points the rest of the game and that was in the fourth period when substitutions were being made by both sides.

Ford and sophomore Dillon Pulliam each scored 10 points to lead Harrison County in scoring.

The Breds were 17 of 53 from the field while Marshall County was a red hot 26 of 52.

The Breds were harassed by the Marshals' defense committing 21 turnovers to the quick and strong first region powerhouse.

"Against a good team like this you cannot turn the ball over like we did," confirmed Reitz.

On Thursday, Owen County was the Thorobreds opponent, having lost a heart-breaker to the host Montgomery County Indians the night before by a 67-60 count after leading for most of the game by a double-figures margin.

The Rebels seemed to be in the doldrums as the game started and a three by Pulliam and two threes by Ford spurred the Breds to a 13-4 advantage after six minutes were played.

After an Owen County timeout, the Rebels righted their course a little and scored the next two baskets to cut the Harrison County margin to 13-8 as the first period came to a close.

The second period continued the series of runs as the Owen County squad roared out of the break to score the first 11 points to take a 21-13 lead before a three by Ford stopped the streak and started an eight-point run for Harrison County, which ended the half with a tie at 21.

The run continued to start the third quarter as the Breds scored the first nine points of the half on a basket by Ford, a three by Pulliam and two Scott Kendall hoops to rush out to a 30-21 lead before Owen County called time out with four and one half minutes left in the stanza.

The Rebels scored on the next possession, but this time the Breds did not yield a run and pushed the lead out to 11 at the end of the quarter; 37-26.

Owen County never got closer than five points from this point as the Breds were able to hit some key baskets and make enough free throws to come away with their seventh win of the year 50-38.

Ford led the Breds in scoring with 29 points and Pulliam added 13 as Harrison County improved to 7-5 for the year. Junior guard Zach Ripy led the Rebels with 17 while they fell to an 8-5 season mark.

On Friday afternoon, the Thorobreds squared off against the Male Bulldogs of region seven for the fifth place trophy.

Male came into the game with a 6-9 record and maybe not as strong of a reputation that would normally accompany the usual Bulldog quintets.

Harrison County started with an early lead but at the five minute mark, Male took a three-point edge at 11-8 prompting a Mike Reitz time out.

A Jordan Martin three at the quarter buzzer made the score 15-11 Male as the Breds hung tough for that period.

Unfortunately, that was as close as it got for the Thorobreds as senior forward Zach Moran and fellow senior lightning-quick LaMarcus Taylor led the Bulldogs to a 28-15 halftime advantage.

Sophomore forward Steven Julian, with help from classmate Jaelin Brasher, put a stifling defense on Caleb Ford causing the Breds leading scorer to lose patience and force some shots when the rare opportunity for him to shoot presented itself.

The third quarter was the final blow for Harrison County as Male sprinted out to take a 47-23 lead and the teams traded baskets in the final period for a 61-37 Male victory.

Moran led all players with 23 points and 11 rebounds while Taylor had 13 points.

Julian, who is usually a light scorer, scored eight points and grabbed nine rebounds.

Ford and Kendall each had 10 points to lead the Thorobreds' scoring while Tyler Wagner pulled down a team-high five boards.

Male improves to 7-9 while the Breds end 2011 with a 7-6 mark.

"Teams like this one (Male) give us trouble because of their quickness and size," Reitz analyzed after the game. "That makes it even more important for us to get some more people to score. I'm not down on this team in any way though. We begin again with three games next week."

The first of the three is Tuesday night at Augusta when the 6-4 Panthers host the Thorobreds. The Breds then travel to Bracken County on Friday and Lincoln County on Saturday.

Fillies

Leslie County entered the game on Thursday with a 6-5 record but was going to have to face Harrison County without leading scorer freshman Katie Moore, who suffered a knee injury on Wednesday.

Moore averaged 20 points per game for the first 11 games for the Lady Eagles.

This would seem to have given the Fillies an advantage, but if it did, the gain was soon lost as sophomore center Jordan Doram picked up three quick fouls in the first period and headed for the bench.

The Fillies, after taking an early lead, fell behind in Doram's absence by a 9-6 score at the end of the first period.

Harrison County was able to stay close in the second period though thanks largely to the scoring of freshman Whitney Gray, who scored eight points and grabbed four rebounds in the second period.

Couple the Gray input with much-improved ball handling and the Fillies trailed by only one point at 22-21 when the buzzer sounded at the half.

Harrison County committed only five turnovers for the first half.

Doram came back strong in the third period and countered the balance scoring attack from Leslie County's center duo of freshman Brooke Asher and senior Kalyn Wilson as Harrison County took a 33-30 lead heading into the fourth period.

Doram picked up two more quick fouls in the early stages of the last quarter and, with six and one half minutes left, fouled out of the game with 11 points but only three rebounds.

With Doram gone, Asher scored six straight points to give the Lady Eagles a five-point lead before Little made a free throw to stop the Leslie County run.

Leslie County stretched the lead to seven points before the Fillies made one last hard run at them to try and wrestle away the victory.

A three by Cummins and some Ingram free throws brought the score back to 45-42 in favor of the Lady Eagles as the Fillies fouled to try and regain possession of the ball.

Normally sure shooting junior guard Tori McIntosh missed two straight free throws which gave the

Little made one of two free throws cutting the lead to 45-43 with Coach Furnish setting up the press after the made free toss.

The Lady Eagles were not yet in the bonus so the Fillies had to foul two times before again sending McIntosh to the line for one and the bonus.

She again missed and Harrison County grabbed the rebound of an ill-advised shot and called time with three plus seconds left on the clock as they dribbled across the 10-second stripe.

For some unexplained reason, Harrison County was given the ball to inbound halfway down the back court and the Fillies were unable to get off a shot before time expired falling by the 45-43 score.

The loss leaves the Fillies with a 4-9 season record with their next game on Jan. 5 on the Hilltop facing Bracken County's Lady Bears (6-3).

Besides Doram's 11 points the Fillies were led by Ingram and Gray with seven points each, and Little and Cummins with seven points each.

Little grabbed eight rebounds to lead the way for the Fillies while Philpott brought down five. Asher with 14, Wilson with 11 and McIntosh with 10 led Leslie County who improved to 7-5. North Hardin (11-2) won the tourney with a 68-48 win over Boyle County (10-5) in the late Thursday championship.
